Frequently Asked Questions

How Does It Work?

- delegates are booked onto our employability programme at which point we take over, they receive all their training online, with the ability to refer back to it throughout their 6 month employment and beyond. They book their 1-1 career support session and can attend as many group Q&A sessions as they like, where we can look at their CVs, they can ask questions and receive support. A certificate is given upon completion.

How Will I Know If They Don't Attend The Training?

- we will be in contact with you at the 3 month point if they have not accessed any training, the next time you will hear from us will be when they have completed the programme.

What If They Leave Us Part Way Through?

- if the delegate hasn't received their 1-1 coaching you are welcome to transfer another employee onto the employability programme.

My Delegates Are Based All Over The UK

- that's ok, all training takes place online, so there are no restrictions geographically.

How Do I Know What Training They Have Completed?

- we can update you at any point, we will always know what they have completed and what is still to be done by each delegate. You will have a contact to email anytime you would like an update.

How Quickly Should They Start The Employability Programme?

- we would recommend booking them on in the first month so they have time to complete the training whilst on the Kickstart programme.

How Much Time Will It Take Out Of Their Working Day?

- each training module will be approximately 2 hours, with additional time required for writing CVs and planning their career post Kickstart. This will take some delegates more time than others. They are able to complete this outside of work hours.

How Much Support Do They Receive From You?

- as much or as little as they like. In addition to the training itself and 1-1 career consultation, each delegate has access to weekly group Q&As on Zoom and a Facebook group for delegates to join, ask questions within and meet other delegates.
